

WinLauncher Standard

Quick start: register a few items first

Open what you use often with Alt+Space

Start by registering just 4 to 6 things you open for a task you do regularly.

1 Register

Files and folders: drag and drop
From the clipboard: Alt+V
Type it yourself: Alt+N

2 Search

Press Alt+Space to show the list, type a name or tag, then move with the up and down arrow keys.

3 Open

Press Ctrl+Enter to open the selected item.

Common to all three methods: after registering, give each item a name and tags you will remember. Those are the words you type in step 2.

Example: group one project

Give everything you use for one project the same tag. Items of different kinds then appear in the same list.

Kind	Name you choose	Tag
File	Project brief	project-a
Folder	Working folder	project-a
Website	Spec notes on the internal wiki	project-a
Folder	Output folder	project-a

Press Alt+Space, type project-a, and all four appear in one list. Use the up and down arrow keys to select an item, then Ctrl+Enter to open it.

When you do that task again, would you want to open its items from this list? That is the test.

On a company PC, follow your organization's software and information-handling policies. Registering an item does not change your access permissions or sign-in requirements.

If something does not work

Almost always it is a shortcut conflict or an unexpected search mode.

Alt+Space does not open it	PowerToys Run also uses Alt+Space by default. If both are enabled, change the PowerToys Run shortcut or disable it, then restart WinLauncher. Window-management utilities and IMEs can take the same shortcut.
Search returns no items	In the normal list, search by a name or tag you assigned. A slash (/) at the beginning or end of the search box switches search modes, such as /Everything or /Snippet, which look somewhere else.
The item count changed	The count in the upper right shows the items currently displayed after filtering. It is not the total number of registered items.
The interface is in the wrong language	Right-click the WinLauncher icon in the notification area, open "Language / 言語", and select English or Japanese. Restart WinLauncher for the change to take effect.

Once you are comfortable

Switch search modes	Type a slash (/) at the beginning or end of the search box to see the mode names. There are seven, including /Everything and /Snippet.
Keep reusable text in Snippets	Save text you reuse, find it by name or tag, and press Ctrl+Enter to copy it to the clipboard.
Import and export CSV	Launcher and Snippets both support CSV export and import.
